

About Us

Deli Red is a family-run business operating out of San Francisco. Michael Smith came back a veteran of the Second World War with a dream, to provide exotic meats to his hometown. Since 1947, Deli Red has offered exotic meats at affordable prices while also maintaining high standards and quality. Everybody should be able to enjoy the fine products that nature provides without having to sacrifice their wallet. That's why Deli Red is proud to provide to everyone who walks through our doors. There's always something for somebody, so come in and see what we have to offer
